Accountants and Auditors perform a range of financial, accounting and/or auditing functions. While the focus of their jobs is different, many of their responsibilities are complementary and in some cases are similar.

Accountants

Accountants are responsible for functions such as processing revenues and expenditures for a ministry, ensuring accuracy of financial statements and reports, supervising the processing of accounts receivable and payable, and developing and implementing various accounting procedures. This involves performing tasks such as: maintaining systems of accounts; reviewing financial statements and reports; developing and initiating new accounting processes, procedures and practices; ensuring compliance with internal control procedures; providing accounting advice to branches within a ministry; developing budgets, fiscal forecasts and financial reports; and supervising accounting staff. Accountants may be required to travel and work flexible hours.

A criminal record clearance is required.

Auditors

Auditors are responsible for functions such as planning, conducting and leading audits for adequate financial controls and management practices, and recommending and monitoring changes to financial and management processes. This involves performing tasks such as: completing risk assessments and establishing audit objectives; designing and conducting system tests and procedures to evaluate program operations; developing, recommending and implementing audit plans; drafting audit reports based on audit findings with recommended changes; and supervising auditing staff. Auditors may be required to travel and work flexible hours.

All Senior Internal Audit (10 FAU) positions in the Internal Audit Branch, Comptrollers Division of Saskatchewan Finance are required to have a professional designation. The appropriate designation will be based on the position being filled. Designations include CA, CMA, CGA, CIA. For further clarification, refer to Saskatchewan Finance.

Personal Attributes

(Bring)

Personal Attributes identify qualities of character, which a person must have to be an effective and successful performer in the job. They are underlying characteristics which are deep and enduring parts of an individual expressed most of the time. They are one's personal style or personal effectiveness, such as feelings, attitudes, habits and traits. Each of these is demonstrated by behavioural examples which allow one to objectively determine whether an individual possesses the required personal attributes.

Attributes, together with the knowledge and skill competencies, help you to predict what a person will do in a given situation.
